

English C Course

Semester 1 2005

Theme: Effective Communication in English

Lecturer`s name : Richard Parker

Course objectives:

- To develop speaking fluency.
- To improve listening skills.
- Some work on reading and writing skills.

Course content:

The teacher will provide a wide variety of materials designed to stimulate genuine communication. Initially this will focus on simpler daily tasks until fluency reaches a level where students can address more complex challenges.

Information for students:

The course requires the students to be constantly active in using English and students should worry less about mistakes than effectively communicating information or ideas. The classes will be absolutely 100% English.

Textbook/materials:

A notebook is essential and a pocket English-Japanese/Japanese-English dictionary is very useful.

Evaluation:

Constant evaluation throughout the course based upon effort and progress
– 60%
A course end oral test – 40%
