

English C Course

Semester 1 2005

Theme: Issues in Society

Lecturer`s name: Anne Brasier

Course objectives:

To develop abilities in reading, discussing and analysing various perspectives on current social issues both domestic and international, as reported through the English media.

To develop abilities in discussion, the dissemination of information, the formulation of and expression of ideas in English.

To give practise in gathering information from a wide variety of English language media sources.

To develop abilities in writing, oral expression, and reading real-world materials in the target language.

To broaden students' cultural and social perspectives on current trends and issues within society.

Course content:

Students will:

- Develop their presentation and debate skills
- Read and listen to materials provided , gather information from a variety of media sources, write responses and report
- Actively discuss and debate issues
- Conduct a well a cohesive and informative presentation on a current social issue of their choice

Information for students:

- You will be required to submit a diary entry on given topics during the course of the semester

Textbook/materials:

All materials will be provided.

Evaluation:

Diary writing	35%
Assessed presentation	35%
Overall evaluation of class activities	30%

English Education Center Ehime University