

English C Course

Semester 1 2005

Theme: Food, Money, and Public Speaking

Lecturer`s name: Tzehaie Ogbamichael

Course objectives:

To improve skills in basic research

To develop and improve skills in individual oral presentations

To acquire and increase knowledge about food, nutrition, and diet

To develop understanding of the uses of money and to increase vocabulary related to money

Course content:

Food: writing a recipe, categorizing foods according to the food pyramid, examining food package labels, watching videos of food eating contests

Money: money and relationships, designing own money, world currencies

Public Speaking: Individual research and presentation on a current leader of a nation

Information for students:

Students will use handouts during each class. Video clips and audios will be used as supplements. As the final project students will do individual research on a current leader of any nation they choose and present it to class.

Textbook/materials:

All materials will be provided to students. Students only need to bring files for handouts.

Evaluation:

Tests: 40%, Participation: 30%, Presentations: 30%

English Education Center Ehime University